

U.S.-Cuban Relations: Past, Present and Desired Future

Miguel Fraga

First Secretary of the Cuban Embassy in Washington DC

Presidents Barack Obama and Raúl Castro took extraordinary steps to normalize relations between the United States and Cuba. They met, restored diplomatic ties, and eased travel restrictions, and now Cuba has a new president, Miguel Díaz-Canel. As the Trump administration moves to reverse these changes, how is Cuba changing with respect to constitutional change, economic reform, and US-Cuban relations?
